Entertains Soldiers At Camp And At Air Base

MISS ANNIE ROONEY

The above charming looking artist entertained the soldiers at Camp McCain Saturday, and the soldiers at the Army Air Base on Sunday. At the dance at the Camp McCain Officers' Club Saturday night, she sang "Adios Americanos" and "Embraceable You." She has played in "Babes on Broadway," "Follow the Band" and "Always a Bridesmaid," and her next screen appearance will be in "Hip, Hip, Hooray!" She is a cute little devil.

Grenada Hands Water Valley 26 to 0 Defeat

The Grenada Bulldogs roared nearer another conference championship Friday night when they trounced Water Valley 26 to 0. The victory proved costly to the Bulldogs in the fact they lost their star right half, Bobby Townes, when his knee was fractured in the third quarter. On that "hard luck" play Townes was apparently a way for a possible score when a Water Valley tackle knifed through and hit the Bulldog back low.

The Bulldogs took the opening kickoff and immediately started a 76 yard touchdown march which paid off when Townes skirted left end for 12 yards and the score, Grenada's try for conversion was blocked.

With Townes and Robinson gaining the ground on single and double reverses in the second quarter, the Bulldogs tallied twice in that period. Arent climaxed a short drive when he counted on a ten yard run through the line. Jones failed in his plunge for the extra point. A few minutes later the Bulldogs found themselves on Water Valley's 4 as a result of splendid running by Robinson. On the next play the lanky left half drove over for the marker. His pass to Spears for the point was good. The Bulldogs finished the scoring in the fourth quarter when Arent tallied from his five. Robinson passed to Alexander for the point.

In registering their third conference victory, the Bulldogs made 15 first downs to four for Water Valley. The visitors never made a scoring threat for they could make no headway thru the staunch Bulldog line.

ATTENDING CONVENTION

Clayton Carpenter, Deputy Sheriff, is attending the convention of the law enforcement officers of Mississippi at Vicksburg, this week.

MISSING IN ACTION

Grenada county friends will regret to hear that Jimmie Hill, son of Mr. Jim Hill, of Greenwood (formerly of Grenada County) was recently reported missing in action in North Africa.

And they sweet.

Killed In Fall From A Tree

Eugene Richardson, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Richardson, who live in Bent Two about eight miles from Grenada, was killed Monday night when he fell from a tree which he had climbed to get an opossum. His neck was broken and death came quickly.

He is survived by five brothers and his parents.

Burial, with Rev. W. L. Robinson in charge, was had at Woodlawn Tuesday.

Sympathy is extended to the bereaved members of the family.

Grey Ladies Organization Formed

The Grey Ladies Organization formed in Grenada and including ladies from several towns on September 27th have completed a course of study, including a written test, based on the lecture given both by Red Cross instructors and military medical personnel of Camp McCain.

Mrs. F. T. Gerard, Chairman of Red Cross Volunteer Workers and Mrs. Jennie Lewis, Executive Secretary of Grenada Red Cross, assisted by Miss Erickson, Red Cross Secretary at Station Hospital, Camp McCain, worked diligently to form this class. At the organization meeting on Sept. 27th Mrs. E. R. Pleasant was nominated chairman of the Grenada Red Cross Grey Ladies.

The following are now active Grey Ladies, working at Station Hospital, Camp McCain:

Mrs. H. A. Alexander, Miss Margaret Anderson, Mrs. Carroll G. Anthony, Winona, Miss Margaret Armstrong, Coffeeville, Mrs. John Best, Mrs. E. L. Betz, Mrs. R. H. Beitz, Mrs. H. H. Boswell, Coffeeville, Mrs. J. J. Brown, Mrs. J. C. Calk, Mrs. J. J. Colgan, Mrs. John Cookson, Coffeeville, Mrs. J. L. Cooley, Mrs. J. B. DuBois, Mrs. E. L. Foster, Mrs. George Garner, (G. M.) Mrs. Walter Garner, Mrs. Albert George, Mrs. Frank Gerard, Mrs. W. J. Goyer, Mrs. R. S. Grier, Mrs. Morris Hubbard, Mrs. H. L. Honeycutt, Mrs. W. M. Hodges, Mrs. G. S. Kent, Mrs. Roy Landrum, Mrs. C. S. Liles, Miss Mary Elizabeth McNeill, Mrs. J. R. Moore, Mrs. M. J. Napier, Mrs. E. R. Pleasant, Mrs. E. R. Probst, Mrs. D. G. Ross, Mrs. Raphael Semmes, Mrs. Birl Smith, Mrs. Edith Swetland, Miss Elizabeth Thomas, Mrs. W. O. Thomason, Mrs. R. C. Throckmorton, Mrs. W. R. Nussbaum, Winona, Miss Sue Willis, Mrs. K. E. Weisner, Mrs. Frank York, Mrs. P. H. Youngblood.

Two Years In Service

STAFF SGT. J. L. TILGHMAN

The above handsome serviceman is Staff Sergeant J. L. Tilghman, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Tilghman, of Hardy who in two years has advanced to the rank of Staff Sergeant in the United States Marines.

And they sweet.

Mrs. Max Ginsberger Died In Battle Creek

Early this week, Mrs. Max Ginsberger died in Battle Creek, Mich. She was the widow of the late Mr. Ginsberger, who did an immense furnishing business in the Keeton stand in Grenada and was known far and wide as the old "Ship of State."

Notes Taken At The Officers' Club

The old lady (who did not act so old) and I were guests of Major and Mrs. F. W. Waite at the dinner and dance at the Officers' Club at Camp McCain Saturday night, and, after being there, I am bound to say that this is a fine, indeed a splendid war.

One would think from the service and appointments that one was at Palm Beach or on the old French Riviera, instead of at a military establishment.

Everybody, including myself, had a grand time. But I am getting too old and gray to have such grand times very often. One fortnightly dance and one trip out there a year is about my capacity.

As the reader may have already surmised, I got a little dizzy, but not too dizzy to have a good time.

Col. Ryder paid me the compliment of saying that I was a faster worker than he was, and he referred to my gallantry with little Annie Rooney, the starlet from Hollywood, who rendered two songs for the guests and members of the club. She was a cute little dicken.

Suzette told a fine little joke involving the humorous little Suzette, and General Clarkson, but, as the latter has gone, the joke is omitted, not that it would not be nice to publish.

I met my favorite married blond's husband, who is a fine fellow. You see, I have a favorite single blond, too, and I have to make distinctions.

After Lt. and Mrs. Bondurant and, as they were from Atlanta, I enjoyed talking to them whether they enjoyed it or not. Lt. Bondurant was unusually nice to White, Jr., when the latter was in the Station Hospital. Mrs. R. and I have two mutual friends, at least, Head Coach Alexander of Georgia Tech and "Miss" Rosa Thomason of Pearlridge.

My favorite correspondent and my favorite brunette—one and the same person—was there and she helped make our evening a pleasant one.

I took occasion to compliment Major Lloyd, the Provost Marshal, on the work that the MPs are doing, and the fine degree of cooperation existing between the Military Police and the civil authorities.

I waited around until about 12 o'clock to see if the straps on an evening gown would break, but they did not, so we came home.

Brother and Mrs. Lupton were having as good a time as anyone. He seems to know everybody.

Susan was one of the most popular girls on the floor.

We had the privilege of visiting a short while in the home of Col. Ira Ryder, the Camp Commander, who is a splendid host.

Both of us are indebted to Major and Mrs. Waite for a very pleasant evening, and I hope I did not disgrace them.

Lt. (s.g.) Walter T. Mann Killed In Crash Sat.

Tragedy again stalked in several Grenada homes Saturday when the news was received from Clinton (Okla.) Naval Air Field that Lt. (s.g.) Walter T. Mann, was killed in the crash of a large plane of which he was the pilot. From fragmentary evidence at hand, he probably was on a test flight as only a mechanic (who bailed out to safety) accompanied him on the flight.

"T" was a graduate of GHS and one of its star football men. He was 26 years of age and the baby son of Mrs. A. N. Mann, of Grenada.

Just last week he and his family were members of his family were delighted to hear that he had received a promotion from Lt. (j.g.) to Lt. (s.g.).

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Verna Lesgett Mann, his mother, Mrs. A. N. Mann, of Grenada; three sisters, Mesdames Ray Dowdle, and Cecil Moore, of Grenada, and Billy Kennedy, of Coffeeville; and five brothers, Cpl. Bill, of Camp Shelby, Guy and Rube, of Grenada, Jimmie of Gulfport and Billy of Camp Shelby.

Funeral services will be held at the Baptist Church at 3 p. m. today (Friday).

Like the good sea captain, however, "T" saw that his passenger escaped.

He stayed with the ship. Thus the list of fine young men of Grenada who died in the service of their country becomes longer and longer.

Diphtheria In Grenada

Is your baby neglected or protected? We have had three cases of diphtheria in the city of Grenada this month. All of these could and should have been prevented. The overcrowded condition here might be indirectly responsible or some of these cases, but it is most important that all parents have their children immunized against diphtheria when six to nine months of age. Three to six months after immunization, the schick test should be given.

The schick test should be repeated before the child enters school. If a child has sore throat or white patches in the throat, don't send him to school, but call a doctor to see him. Keep him away from other children.

If your children under ten years of age are not protected against diphtheria, have it done at once. It is an easy matter to know that your child is protected and not neglected.

Grenada County Health Dept. F. L. McGahey, M. D. Director

PROMOTED

His friends here will be delighted to hear that Ensign Vassar Dubard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vassar Dubard, has been promoted to the rank of Lt. (j.g.). USA.

Marshall Perry Resigns As OPA Rent Director

J. Marshall Perry, Director of the Grenada Rent Office, announced that his resignation has been tendered and accepted to take effect October 15th.

Mr. Perry entered the Rent Office as Rent Attorney when Rent Control was initiated in this Area October 1, 1942. Since July 22nd of this year he has been the Director as well as legal head of the Rent Control program. The Grenada Area comprises Calhoun, Carroll, Grenada, Leflore, Montgomery and Yalobusha counties.

Powell Hall, District Rent Executive of Jackson, was in the city recently conferring with personnel of the Rent Office. Mr. Hall stated that the Grenada Area would become a part of the Jackson Defense Area operations but that the local office would continue to function as in the past and would be in charge of Thomas Meek, Rent Examiner, except that in the future orders could be signed in Jackson.

National War Fund Drive To Start Monday

At a meeting held at the Methodist Church annex Monday afternoon, Oct. 18, the local group to supervise the collections of funds for the National War Fund heard Rev. W. L. Robinson, Grenada County Chairman of the drive, and several Area men from Greenwood speak. A moving picture was shown to bring home to those present the need for cooperation to make the drive a success.

Grenada county's quota for the War Fund alone is $7,108.00. The additional amount to be asked for to cover Boy Scout, etc. Organization gifts will be found elsewhere in a statement from Rev. Robinson. The democratic and Christian way in relieving suffering and want is humane and fine. Our people look upon wealth as a means to prevent and stop wars. The Axis partners look upon war as a means of taking wealth from others and putting it in their own coffers, in allowing the weak to die and the maimed to be shot.

Our dollars are to go to work for all peoples of all lands. The Norwegian, the Russian, the Chinese the French, our war prisoners, United States and our Greek friends, and all the peoples of Europe and Asia who have stood between us and invasion, need the services that your dollars will provide. When you are approached by the local group, who will begin their active solicitation October 23, be sure to give with a prayer of thankfulness that you are able to give. Surely that good will to help lies deep in the American heart and conscience and in their common sense.

Sale Of Army Insignias Extended

The Public Relations Officer at Camp McCain, Major F. W. Waite, has received information from Headquarters, Fourth Service Command, that the sale of Army insignia by civilian firms will be permitted for an additional period ending January 1, 1944. This extends the dead line previously set for October 18, 1943.

All holders of War Department certificate (605) will be authorized to sell metal, cloth and plastic insignia for the extended period of time. Firms holding War Department certificate will be permitted to sell only cloth insignia, such as chevrons and shoulder patches for this additional period of time.

All merchants will secure the identity of the soldier by reviewing his pass and in the case of an officer, by asking to see his AGO Identification Card. In no case will civilians be sold insignias of any kind.

Largest Divorce Docket On Record Sounded

Old folks must be getting new ideas if we take into consideration that Judge L. A. 8 lib, our Chancellor, faced not only a heavy docket of controversial matters, but also had to hear 48 pleas for divorce, about 35 of which were granted. There were three or four reconciliations at the bar.

A good many of those who were legally severed from their mates already had other mates picked out. Such is life: those in want out, those out want in—just like flies.

Cpl. Russell Thomas and Staff Sgt. Dorsey Tolison, both of the old home company, that is Hq. Bn., 114th F. A. Bn., at Camp Pickett, Va. have recently enjoyed furlough home.

Laboring Under False Idea--Only TD Camp

Dear
Well, I been laboring under a idea I been at the front right in the thick of battle but it turns out I was in a TD camp instead. TD stands for tank destroyer. Now if two years ago nobody had-of told me I wood be taking lessons how to outfight a 50-ton tank I wood of just given him a horse laugh. I expected man-to-man fighting in this war but not man-to-tank fighting on account of I always serposed tanks was destroyed by other tanks.

Yes I read all about David and Goliath, but from what I been through in this TD unit I guess David was just doing Boy Scout exercises. In addition to learning me how to destroy tanks whenever one bursts into my life, I am taught how to meet the dirtiest work any enemy can offer and double it in spades. We get all around commando training also and they forget nothing except how to make a flying tackle of a buzzsaw and the best was to make a trip through a concrete mixer in a two-piece suit and helmet. You see that circus stunt where a man makes a big fuss about getting shot out of a canoe, well that is nothing. I get showed how to enter a cannon when it is being fired and make the shell use me for peace. They got everything in this camp that they got in Egypt, Stalingrad and Guadalcanal but the medals. There is more barbed wire used here than Hitler had for the first two years of his hole campaign. I am training now to go through it like it was cobwebs. If I survive a day's training and there is a inch of my uniform that ain't torn they send the wire back as not up to specifications.

big piles of brush, open country with all kinds of traps in it and even dark tunnels witch we have to go into and learn to fight in the dark. I haff to laugh when I think back in civilun life I was even nervous about fighting in the light. Then they have built a Nazi village in which dummies pop out suddenly from doors and windows so I will get trained to shoot quick instead of waiting for my nerves to steady. I open a door and out pops a figure and I am serposed to know at once that it is not no Gallup poll man and nobody selling magazines to work his way through college. If I hesitate a second the umpire rules me dead. Over my head life amminishun is being fired all the time. It could be entitled "Through the Chambers of Horrors With a Tommy Gun and Iron Will." Also we get taught to go miles across swamps on our stomachs, loading without getting up. We have to swim rivers, leap over walls, and like I said before we get speshul lessons in making tanks yell uncle. We use Molotov cocktails or gasoline bombs witch we are serposed to toss right into these tanks with no more nervousness than if we was mailing a postcard. Do not worry though as I am now as tough nothing can bother me. Anytime I am not all out of breath trying to outfight a tank or make a barbed wire fence finish second I think there must be a armistice. Well I got to finish now as we are going to spend the day getting teacher what was wrong at Dieppe so I will close with all my love to you. P. S. I hope to get sent to a real war soon as it will be kind of a furlough where I can rest up from all the excitement.

What has happened to the ordinance concerning frame structures within the site district? This ordinance was passed to protect those of us who have brick buildings.

Tom Irby, of Ponca City, Indian Territory, is here eating up a good many of his mama's ration points.

Green was wiser than I thought, for there was no need to put up a gold star for Tom Neely.

What's happened to the OCD?

My favorite wife is expecting to go to Hot Springs pretty soon. Happily, I have some other favorites in reserve.

Our spiled child who commutes between Grenada and Vicksburg, spent Sunday at home and was fortunate enough to get a ride back with Miss Ruth Hunter, who spent Sunday in Grenada.

The Post Office Department is requesting that, so far as possible, parcels and Christmas cards be mailed before December 10th. Of course, nobody is going to pay any attention to this, as usual.

Miss Lucile Owens, former teacher at GHS, has been appointed hostess at Service Club No. 1 at the Air Base. She is easy on the eyes.

Jay Gore has returned from Hot Springs and all his friends hope that he will take things a little easier from now on.

Will Williams has about taught folks how to park their cars in Grenada; in fact, Will has about worked himself out of something to do.

We are spending some good Tusculum, Alabama money sent in by Brother J. D. King, who actually cussed in his letter. Tut, tut.

Charlie J. Marascuio, who is resting up at Sanatorium has been added to our list. Hope you get all right soon, Charlie.

We have emblems of most of the branches of the armed service, and can use them with the name on Christmas cards, if you want to do so.

Jim Eastland is making good in the U. S. Senate, while our old friend Bill is about as "skace" around the Senate chamber as devils are around holy water.

Right here in front of this typewriter is enough mimeographed propaganda from the various government agencies to fill two issues, but that stuff will shortly find its way to the trash pile.

And they sweet.

Mrs. Cohen said she hoped no Delilah had gotten after Charlie to get his whiskers trimmed off.

The Mayor of Oxberry has not graced Grenada with his presence in several months, or, if so, I have not seen him.

In the end, the present shortage of ammunition will do something that all of the game wardens have never been able to do, that is replenish the fields and woods with game birds and mammals.

Brother S. H. Kyrer on Govan has decided to cut his lot with us.

Our friend, Henry, and a real friend of man for that matter, is spending a little vacation in New Orleans.

It's time now for Tommie Rose to go to New Orleans, but he says he is too po'.

Staff Sgt. J. L. Tilghman, somewhere east of San Francisco, is receiving the GCW as a birthday present from his parents.

Sgt. Rogers I. Bell, too, is receiving the GCW as a present from his sister. He is somewhere east of New York.

Poor Mississippi.

Watch those calories, sister.

We had two fires close to each other last week, but not at exactly the same time, fortunately.

I imagine I will have to go to preaching if business does not pick up.

Better be safe than sorry, and get your Christmas cards early. The OPA ordered a drastic cut in the number produced this year.

Tommie Gene Bowen finally decided to get his wife to subscribe for the GCW, and I hope they find it a good investment.

ED PAWLEY, one of Hollywood's better known bad men, will get a chance to reform now that "Big Town" is returning to the air. Pawley, who has appeared in "G Man," "Jesse James," and several hundred other pictures, will play the part of the crusading "Steve Wilson," Managing Editor of the Illustrated Press, in the new "Big Town" series, Tuesdays over CBS. This season the series will be concerned with the American press' unceasing battle against subversive influences and fifth column activities.

Nancy Kelly sang and danced as a child performer in vaudeville, but only in her latest picture does she get a chance to do it for the cameras. She's the feminine charmer of "Tarzan's Desert Mystery"—plays a chorus girl stranded in the Sahara. Looks as if there'd been some drastic changes made in the Tarzan background, but Johnny Weissmuller still has the leading role.

There's a lot of sentiment attached to the fact that Amos 'n' Andy are again appearing on the National Broadcasting company after a two-year absence from its air waves. It was on NBC that they first appeared, and rose to radio fame.

James Jordan, 19-year-old son of Fibber McGee and Molly, makes his screen debut as one of the sons of Maj. Frank Cavanaugh in EKO's "The Iron Major," which stars Pat O'Brien. The fact that young Jordan was honorably discharged from the Air Force, in which he had enlisted, gave him the chance to play Phil Cavanaugh—who in real life is a Lieutenant in the United States army.

United Artists, topping the bids of two other major studios, acquired distribution rights to "Voice in the Wind," which U. A. executives think is a "sleeper"—in other words, one of those pictures that are made without hullabaloo and coin a mint. It was made on rented stages by Arthur Ripley and Rudolph Monier—with no guarantee of a release, they gambled on their ability to turn out a box office attraction. It's "the story of two gentle people, a man and a woman, whose love beats against the grim events of a world at war."

Gloria Holden says a compliment Spencer Tracy paid her has influenced her acting career more than any other one thing. Appearing in "Test Pilot," with Tracy and Clark Gable, she played the widow of a pilot killed on the eve of their honeymoon. She finished the scene in which Gable gave her the prize money that was to have paid for the honeymoon; Victor Fleming, the director, had made her cry steadily for 15 minutes before she went into it. "Honey," said Tracy, "You don't have to ask anybody for anything when you can act like that!"

One sure-fire way to make an Australian mad is to let him hear an American actor use a cockney accent when playing an Australian. Alan Carnay, one of the best dialect actors in radio, perfected his "Aussie" accent by talking to Australian newsmen at their News Service headquarters in New York. After the broadcast they phoned him their congratulations.

Kate Smith has begun her 14th year on the air with Ted Collins acting as producer-director; he discovered her and guided her to the top. One of the best talent scouts of radio, he discovered and introduced Rudy Vallee, Abbot and Costello, Tommy Riggs and Henny Youngman, among others. He insisted that Kate introduce "God Bless America"—thinks the new "Old Acquaintance" will be a hit.

ODDS AND ENDS—Blue Network's "Keepers" pays five dollars for each of those sentimental mementos that it uses. Mickey Mouse is growing up; he's grown now. Joe Boland, who played the policeman who helped "Abie's Irish Rose," "Abie" and "Rose" got married, is now the morning man who's trying to get them moved to a new home. Julia Sanderson does not feel that she can return to radio, now that her husband and partner, Frank Crumit, is gone; Julia of the lovely laugh and charming singing voice will devote her talents to entertaining servicemen—but the radio public hopes that eventually she'll return to them.

Americans Will Salute Their Mighty Sea Force, 'Spearhead of the Attack,' on Navy Day, October 27

Tonnage of Warships And Auxiliaries Is Doubled Since 1940

By ELLIOTT PINE

Released by Western Newspaper Union

This year, as every year for the past twenty-two, the nation pauses briefly to salute the navy, the marine corps and the coast guard on Navy day, October 27, for that is the birthdate of Theodore Roosevelt who sired the beginnings of our modern navy. And it was the late President who backed up his word by donating part of his Nobel Peace award to the Navy League and its program.

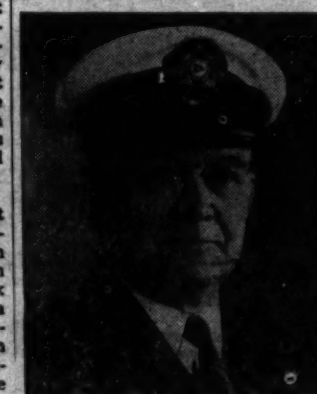

The Navy League is now a nationwide organization with a vice president for every state in the Union and the District of Columbia. Its new honorary president is Governor Charles Edison, former secretary of the navy. Its president is Commodore Sheldon Clark, Chicago business man. Under a directive issued by Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, all commands of the navy department are directed to co-operate with the Navy League in this annual observance on October 27.

Thus, Navy day, while having the official sanction of the navy department, is actually a civilian endeavor, a civilian salute to our far-flung fleet and shore establishments and the men and women who make them function.

This is exactly what Theodore Roosevelt had in mind when he declared in that letter 40 years ago: "For the building and maintaining in proper shape of the American navy, we must rely upon nothing but the broad far-sighted patriotism of our people as a whole; and it is of great importance that there should be some means by which this patriotism can find an effective utterance. Your society offers just the means needed."

The Navy League is thus seen, also, as not of the character of just another emergency organization, or "war baby" designed to function only under the duress of conflict. It is a permanent gathering of citizens who pay homage not alone to the dead heroes but to the living and growing organization of ships, and planes, and men of the United States navy. Its purpose is one of patriotic education, and its membership fees are nominal for it is a non-profit organization.

This year the official slogan of the league on the occasion of Navy day is "Your Navy—Spearhead of Victory." This is in contrast to the old traditional slogan of "First Line of Defense." And it is also in contrast with the 1942 slogan which read: "Your Navy—First Line of Attack."

Commodore Sheldon Clark, president of navy league.

These sharply contrasting slogans tell a changing story of a navy under changing conditions and the final slogan suggests the promise of victory.

The question is raised, does the league and its patriotic membership cease to be a robust booster for the navy at the cessation of hostilities? Officials of the league say, no, that that is when the real work of the league must begin anew.

Perhaps, the peace slogan on a Navy day yet to come will be at once a grim reminder and a solemn warning that the men and implements of the navy must not again be relegated to the shelves of complacency over our national security. In that event the slogan may well read: "Your Navy... Comes First in War and in Peace."

"Spearhead" Is Big and Sharp. But this year, in the midst of the greatest war ever to sweep this troubled earth, the slogan "Spearhead of Victory" is eminently fitting. And what a "spearhead"! The mightiest navy of all time being created. Already it is immense, beyond the dreams of any nation, even the United States, until three years ago. Still it grows, day by day, week by week. More ships, more planes, more men, the navy demanded, and the American people have responded without stint.

In a report boldly revealing details previously considered tight secrets, the United States navy flaunts its strength to the Axis, and particularly to Japan. In three years, the report states, the total tonnage of all navy craft has risen from 1,875,000 tons in July, 1940, to more than 5,000,000 tons in July, 1943. The navy measurements are in displacement, not deadweight tonnage, which latter figure is more than twice as great as the displacement.

Warships, meaning battleships, light and heavy cruisers, destroyers, destroyer escorts, submarines and carriers, have been increased from 383 in 1940 to 613 in the July, 1943, report, and new ships are being delivered every month. Some 313 new combatant ships have been added in three years, totaling 1,117,054 displacement tons.

Expansion of Navy in Three-Year Period placement tons and costing more than three billion dollars. Of the original 383 ships, over 100 have been transferred to other nations, or converted to non-combatant uses.

Other naval vessels have been increased from 1,076 to 14,072, the great rise being accounted for principally by 12,994 landing craft. Other new ships were 1,274 mine layers and patrol craft, 654 yard and district vessels, and 151 auxiliary vessels, such as oil tankers, repair ships, etc.

Indicating the emphasis on air power, the navy has multiplied its planes from 1,744 in 1940 to 18,269 last July, and more are being put into action daily. The importance of air strength, both for offensive and defensive operations is so momentous that the traditional definition of sea power has been changed to "seas-air" power.

"The ability to build this huge naval force, and to continue to build at the present rate is one of the foundation stones of our military strategy," says the navy's report. "It underlies our amphibious attacks in the Pacific, the Atlantic, and the Mediterranean," goes on the statement. "It protects our long exterior supply routes running across thousands of miles of oceans."

"Most important, it makes feasible a strategy of attack, with all the risks it implies. Ability to build—or if necessary, to rebuild—on this scale is one of the basic advantages which the American navy holds over fleets of other nations."

So great is this construction capacity, in fact, that the navy has been able to sustain severe losses without serious loss of strength. Fifty-eight warships have been sunk or damaged so as to be considered useless. Of these, one was a battleship, nine were cruisers, four aircraft carriers, 32 destroyers and 12 submarines. By transfer to the navies of our allies, or by conversion to non-combat purposes, the U. S. navy has lost 129 ships, many of them classed as "over-age."

"The ultimate measure of a shipbuilding program's success is the array of new vessels, completed and ready to fight, which it turns out," the navy report comments. By this yardstick, U. S. warship construction passes the test with flying colors. Ships are being built faster and faster, and being delivered complete, armed and supplied, for combat on the high seas.

"The rise in naval ship completions is without parallel," goes on the report. "The number of vessels completed in the single month of June, 1943, for example, approximates the number completed in the first 18 months of the defense program. Combatant ships—battleships, aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers, destroyer escorts and submarines—make up the largest part of the navy program, and the step-up in their production has been especially sharp. The tonnage of combatant ships completed in the first six months of 1943 is more than 20 times the tonnage completed during the first six months of the defense program."

To make this astonishing output more graphic the report states that in July of 1940, the navy received five newly finished vessels, while in June, 1943, the number was almost 1,200 of various classes.

An even more remarkable multiplication has taken place in airplanes. From 25 aircraft delivered in June, 1940, the figure leaped to 2,000 by June of 1943. The report states that airplane production for naval use has grown faster than any other branch of the aircraft industry.

In the 36-month period, the report says, the navy has obtained 15,567 planes built under its own contracts, and in addition about 6,300 planes constructed under army cognizance. Of these army planes, 7,800 were trainers and utility planes, and 450 combat aircraft. The program is concentrated on combat planes, continues the report. Recent emphasis is on bombers.

Of its new fighter planes, based on carriers, the navy proudly declares: "They are capable of matching performance with the world's best land-based fighters." They fire in one minute five times the weight of projectiles that their 1940 predecessors fired."

Ordnance Department.

All combat ships and planes depend upon their guns for both offense and defense. It is the business of the ordnance department to arm these many new fighters, and to provide replacements. The navy is highly satisfied with the work of its ordnance department, according to the report. Contracts for guns of every caliber and type, and mountings and ammunition have been successfully filled by dozens of private manufacturing companies, in addition to the navy's own manufacturing plants, meeting exacting standards.

The rate of production in ordnance has increased 24 times over the 1940 rate. More than 66,000 of the four main types of naval guns and mounts have been turned out since July, 1940.

Shore Installations.

During the three years mentioned, the navy has constructed docks, buildings and shore facilities costing $4 billion dollars. This program is being continued too, to keep pace with over-all expansion. Contracts for almost two billion dollars worth of work is in process of completion. The whole construction program, totaling $3,100,000,000, is approximately 81 per cent completed on July 1. Of this vast sum, $3,200,000,000 has been allotted to shipbuilding and repair, ordnance and aircraft facilities. One-third of the $4,000,000,000 appropriated for nonindustrial bases has gone into naval bases; the remainder has been devoted to advance bases, storage, fleet facilities, etc. Only the advance base program was less than 15 per cent finished on the first of July.

This great navy will be manned by a force of more than three million men. The navy's goal for the end of the year is 3,009,581, including some WAVES. So the two-ocean navy, long considered an impractical dream, is becoming a reality. Long the world's best navy, the United States navy is now to be the world's biggest also.

'Teddy' Roosevelt, 'Sire of Our Modern Navy,' Endorsed and Supported League

Back in 1903 Theodore Roosevelt, then President of the United States, wrote a telling letter to a then small organization known as the Navy League of the United States. "All good Americans," he said, "interested in the growth of their country and sensitive to its honor should give hearty support to the policies which the Navy league is founded to further."

These policies are today an accepted national creed, namely, that an adequate navy is not only a first line of defense, but now—that there is a war—the implement for carrying the attack to the enemy.

MOTHER-IN-LAW CHEERS LONG SOUGHT RELIEF!

Had Been "Irregular" for Years!

Have you often despaired of ever finding normal regularity? Then, by all means, read this unsolicited letter:

"For many long years, my mother-in-law had suffered from common constipation. She used to take all kinds of pills and medicines, but got no lasting relief. Upon starting to use KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, her trouble cleared up. She feels like a new person, she says. She wanted me to tell the world how your product helped her." Mrs. Foster, Dallas, 124 East 160th Street, Bronx, N. Y.

How do scientists explain the apparent "magic" of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN's relief? Simply this: ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of "cellulose" elements—lack of which in sufficient amounts in the diet is a common cause of constipation! These elements help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and lighten the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN doesn't work by "purging"—or by "sweeping you out." It is a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If this is your trouble eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly. Drink plenty of water! See if you don't find the welcome relief you've hoped for! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Allied Armies Meet Stiff Resistance From Nazi's Defense Line in Italy; Japs Flee Solomon, New Guinea Bases; More Taxes Sought to Pay War Costs

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

U. S. troops stalk carefully through battered Italian town on march to Rome. Doughboys are on lookout for snipers.

ITALY:

Fight for Rome

Beating forward to Rome, Allied armies ran into what appeared to be the Germans' first stiff defense line across southern Italy.

In taking up their new positions, the Germans entrenched themselves on the north bank of the Volturno river on the western coast, and along the open, narrow plain on the eastern coast. Between the two coasts, their troops dug into the rugged mountains.

In all the line ran 125 miles across Italy. Allied Generals Montgomery and Clark brought up reinforcements for the first thrust at the enemy's new positions, while U. S. and British armies pounded German supply routes leading to the front.

Observers kept one eye cocked on the Balkans, where German and British units were fighting for small islands in the Aegean sea, from which an invasion fleet moving into Greece or Jugo-Slavia could be bombed.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC:

Jap Posts Crumble

The Japanese position in the Solomons and New Guinea is slowly crumbling. With the Allies holding the advantage in sea and air strength, the Japs have found it increasingly difficult to supply their distant outposts, and latest in the group to be abandoned was Kolombangara in the Solomons.

Unable to use big cargo or naval vessels because they would become easy prey for the superior Allied sea and air forces, the Japs are continuing to rely on barges for supplying their advanced bases, and, as in the case of Kolombangara, evacuating men. Operated at night, these barges are hidden along the seashores by day.

In New Guinea, the Allies beat back light patrols guarding the approaches to Madang. Jap air and shipping base on the northeast coast. The Allies were skirting the enemy's main defenses in a wide, circling movement, to fall on the base from the rear in much the same pattern as their conquests of Lae and Finschhafen.

PEACE AIMS:

Three Faiths Agree

Identical peace aims have been enunciated by representatives of the three great faiths of the United States in a seven-point declaration. After months of study, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, speaking for the Protestants, Catholics and Jews, issued a seven-point postwar program.

Salient points are:

1. A just peace based upon recognition that "not only individuals, but nations, states and international society are subject to the sovereignty of God and the moral law." 2. States must repudiate racial, religious or other discrimination; 3. Safeguards for all peoples, large and small; 4. Equal educational opportunities and political equality for minorities.

5. Guarantee of faithful fulfillment of international obligations; to provide collective security by limitation of armaments; to compel arbitration of disputes; 6. International economic collaboration "to assist all states to provide an adequate standard of living for their citizens." 7. Security of the family and participation of labor in decisions affecting its welfare.

PHILIPPINES:

Immediate Independence

To combat Japanese propaganda designed to obtain the support of the Filipinos in the war against the U. S., congress has received a bill to grant the Philippine Islands their independence as soon as possible rather than in 1946.

Following introduction of the bill, President Roosevelt recommended that action be taken on the proposal, with provisions for economic freedom, postwar rehabilitation with U. S. help, and military security through U. S.-Filipino co-operation.

In attempting to consolidate their hold over the Philippines, the Japs have been dining the natives that the U. S. is insincere in its promise of granting them independence.

TAXES:

More Sought

Declaring that the American people are able to pay for at least 50 per cent of war expenses through taxes, Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson urged a reluctant congress to approve the government's program for 10 1/2 billion dollars of new levies.

The program calls for higher income and corporation taxes, and increased rates on tobacco, liquor, amusements and luxuries of all kinds. The program also was to slap new levies on candy, chewing gum, soft drinks, greeting cards and other items.

Present taxes are paying for about 38 per cent of war expenses, and the additional 10 1/2 billion dollars would bring the figure up to almost 50 per cent. In his statement to congress, Vinson declared that higher taxes also will serve to prevent inflation.

The government also proposed increased social security taxes for higher unemployment payments and temporary disability and hospital benefits.

DRAFT:

New Regulations

Although the senate killed Sen. Burton Wheeler's bill to postpone the induction of fathers until January 1, it moved toward providing stricter utilization of other manpower.

Through adoption of a substitute bill, the senate voted: 1. Occupational deferments would be limited to pre-war fathers, unless employers could prove indispensability of single or childless married men; 2. All deferments would be subject to review by the appeal board within the district where the employer was located; 3. A board would be appointed to study lowering present physical standards to make use of 4F's.

In the senate bill which went to the house for consideration, allowances to service men's wives were increased to $50 and to $30 for the first child, and $20 for each additional child.

Two Hard Years Of War Ahead

By Harry L. Hopkins

(WNU Feature—Through special arrangement with The American Magazine.)

For a long time the air has been vibrant with the hope of quick victory. Well, in my opinion, we're not going to have it. The German-Japanese portion of the Axis isn't a push-over.

I believe two years of hard fighting on the fronts of the world and two years of increasing sacrifice at home lie ahead of us. Two years, at least. We must work harder, go without more things, lose more and more lives.

I say this with a deep conviction of our ultimate and inevitable victory. Call me gloomy, if you wish, but my optimism has been unwavering from the beginning and will not change until we have won. Considering all the realities of this vast conflict, I am really predicting a short war for us. Five more years of it would make a long one, and we can have a long one if we let down the war effort because of over-confidence.

This is a highly technical war. In World War I, men were sometimes sent overseas with a few months' training. While I cannot give you the actual figures, I may say that it takes almost a year to make a fairly finished army ground soldier out of a recruit, sometimes even longer if the man is given specialized training as well.

It takes at least a year and a half from the time a young bomber pilot first puts on uniform until he carries a load of bombs over the enemy. The training of fighters and bombardiers takes almost as long. Remember that the youngsters who are being drafted now will probably not see active service for a year or two years from now. The army and navy don't think the war will be over quickly.

Must Adjust Weapons.

As the war progresses and we enter France, Norway, China or Germany, it may be necessary to adjust our fighting tools to new conditions.

When we first entered North Africa with an experimental tank crew to serve with the British, we had to redesign a turret to give a wider horizontal range to the gun. Back went word to the factories. "Time lost!" they cried. "These fellows don't know what they're doing."

But they do know: that's why they change. If Germany comes out with a fighter that can down our B-17s, we've got to change.

I have no desire to wet-blanket our national optimism. I simply want to see it endure through the long months of hard fighting and hard working we have ahead of us. But our over-confidence sometimes leads to relaxation, and relaxation leads to a longer war. Soldiers in battle do not reflect. This moment is always the moment for the supreme effort. It is only we who have time to sit down and reflect, who begin to question the war aims of our Allies, and begin to bicker about postwar plans. The fighters don't do it. Russia and China don't do it.

Best Army in History.

It cannot be assumed that China, because she has fought bravely for five years, can fight forever. But we are on the offensive with soldiers, sailors and marines trained to the hilt and equipped as no army or navy in history was ever equipped. We know how well they fight. I believe we will have victory in 1945 against both Germany and Japan. I do not think that is long to wait.

The Axis powers were preparing for a world war eight years before they marched, the Japanese much longer. They have been preparing to fight us ever since they said hello to Admiral Perry.

We were not prepared; here in the United States we had done too little up to Pearl Harbor. That's why some of our stocks of vital materials are low. Long ago, our enemies keyed their industries to war production and since the war began they have expanded these industries. Today they have more producing plants than when the war began.

I have talked with a lot of army and navy men, and I have not met one who believes we can win a quick victory.

We must send our men across seas. The enemy's men are fighting in their own front and back yards. We must send our men everything they need—oil, food, clothing, bullets, tanks, planes, soap and toothpicks—in the North African campaign, 700,000 items in all.

And a ship in which we send men and supplies is a mere speck in the ocean. A ship can't carry much, and a cargo plane even less, but everything we send to the front must be sent that way. It takes time, and more and more ships and planes.

Senators See Nazi Collapse 'Any Time'; War's End in '45

Cumulative Effect of Defeats on All Fronts, Plus Bombing of Cities, Expected to Hasten German Defeat.

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

"It is my guess that the war will end by 1945," the senator said. "The collapse of Germany may come any time."

Pencils slid over copy paper. Mine, too. We sat around the long, green, committee-room table in the Senate Office building. Other press and radio men (and women) and a few visitors listened to the three senators who had made a 40,000-mile trip beginning in Maine, up through Nova Scotia, through Greenland, Iceland, Great Britain, Africa, the Near East, India, China, Australia, the Pacific islands and back home.

I thought as I took down the notes for my broadcast that I wished many of the people who write to me, calling congress dumb, were there to listen to these men regaling us with first-hand information, facts, figures, impressions, which later they were to pass on to their colleagues in the form of long and detailed reports. Much of the material will never be printed.

The trip was spoofed by the papers, when it was proposed, as "another junket." But sitting there, listening to these men, there was no doubt in my mind that they had done a real job. They had slept in gaudy villas in Africa, they had camped in the fields with the troops, lain under thatched roofs, in bamboo shelters, taken their chances across wide sweeps of water in planes unaccompanied by any fighter protection. They had tried to find out the things you and I want to know—how the war is being fought.

Reasons Why

You have already read the gist of what those senators—and Senator Lodge, who made the journey, plus a side trip—said. The information will come out in reports and speeches before the senate and the house.

It was a long session but the thing that struck me was the second sentence which I quoted at the beginning of this article.

"The collapse of Germany may come any time."

These men didn't pretend to be military experts or prophets. That statement of one of them—Senator Russell of Georgia—to which the others, Senators Mead of New York and Brewster of Maine, agreed, was based on what they had heard and seen including photographs of what Russell called "leveled Hamburg."

by the time this is in print there may be other German cities leveled as flat.

Another thing was the testimony of a French official who believed Germany would crumble soon. He was anxious that America be prepared to step in and take control. Unless we did, he insisted, chaos would spread, perhaps anarchy.

I have heard that fear expressed by other Europeans.

Basis of Belief

What is the basis of the belief that Germany will collapse suddenly and perhaps soon? On the belief that history will, in some measure, repeat itself as it always does. That the civilian morale will crumble in Germany, that the spirit of hopelessness will spread to the army as it did in 1918.

Already we know that submarine crews no longer volunteer. They have to be drafted. This is where the rift began in Germany's morale in the last war.

And what will contribute most to Germany's collapse? Not the Russian victories alone; not the drive that will come when, as many believe, the British-American operations are intensified. These will turn the scale. But the cumulative effect of defeats on all fronts plus the bombing of her cities already at work will bring "victory through air power."

The Germans, a very high British official said to us not long ago, are a logical people. When the realization of the hopelessness of further fighting is established, they will begin the logical process of surrender.

And if you read the report of Chief of Staff General Marshall, you will see how the realization of the growth of Allied air power spreads slowly over the whole battle scene.

"The army air forces," says the general, "are now attacking the enemy on ten different fronts throughout the world. Their victories, wherever they come in contact with the enemy, testify to the gallantry and skill of American pilots and crews, to the mechanical efficiency of the planes and to the leadership of General Arnold and . . . (the other commanders)."

History of the War

Go through General Marshall's dramatic history of the war to date and you will see again and again how the Allied air might has gradually risen from the days in the "first phase" when, as the general says, "on all fighting fronts we were in a desperate situation due to lack of material," into the "later phase" when in the southwest Pacific, "air superiority was demonstrated by a loss ratio of four to one in our favor," until today when "the combined American-British bomber offensive against the continent of Europe gives promise of being a decisive factor in the ultimate destruction of the German citadel."

Now that the Allies are in possession of the Foggia air bases in Italy, we can reach what the President described as the area of Germany hitherto "invulnerable." We are nearer the southern German cities now than the air force in the British Isles is to many of the cities against which it has hurled its most devastating blows, and those cities of southern Germany and Austria, hitherto "safe" are now as "vulnerable" as the cities of the Rhine and Ruhr, as Hamburg and Cologne.

The war is not over. The fighting potential of the German army, in number of men, equipment, generalship, supplies, and morale is as high as ever. But as I sat in the Senate Office building and heard the prediction, "the collapse of Germany may come at any time," my mind went back to the anxious faces, the nervous inquiries, that came to me the day that Britain and France declared war and I waited to leave Berlin where I had been broadcasting to America.

The greatest fear of the average German then was the fear of American participation in the war. We couldn't, the stupid leaders believed, "get there in time if we wanted to." They didn't guess we would come via the skyways. Now they know.

(Note: To anyone wishing a complete copy of the "record which Americans will never forget," which is what the President called "General Marshall's fine, soldierly record of achievements of our army throughout two of the most tremendous years of our history," I shall be glad to send a copy. Simply send me your name and address. No charge. See address at head of column.)

We Need Scrap

The words "all out" and "drive" have just about lost their meaning.

And yet, somehow, somewhere, iron and steel scrap has to be collected. There is plenty of it in the country. For the government to collect it, it would take an army. There is only one way it can be gotten. That is through individual effort. It involves no cost. It simply requires a little effort and some time.

The mills now have only enough scrap to last two and a half months. The shooting has just started, uncountable tons of metal are going to be dropped on the enemy in the months ahead. If you wait for someone else in your community to come and get your scrap, the army and the navy won't get the steel they need. Your initiative is essential.

Civilian Awards

The war department has borrowed an innovation of private industry as well as one of the pioneers in developing this idea. Ezra S. Taylor of the Pullman Company, Chicago, Ill., will operate it.

Mr. Taylor has been appointed expert consultant to the secretary of war and is chairman of the department's new board on civilian awards. The board has been set up to increase material economies and generally improve efficiency by utilizing the ideas of the 1,500,000 employees of the department.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

The purchaser of a $1,000 bond pays for the whole cost of America's global war for four-tenths of a second.

To maintain its record of meeting every invasion need, the Merchant Marine must recruit from shore jobs a minimum of 35,000 experienced officers and men during the next year.

Enough steel goes into U. S. tin cans every year to build 900 destroyers.

Another use for the all-purpose American army jeep has been discovered. Converted from road to rail by changing to steel-fanged wheels, the jeep is being used in Australia as a switch engine in shuttling cars around railroad yards.

GAIL BOWEN HAS THIRD BIRTHDAY

Sweet little Gail Bowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Bowen, celebrated her third birthday, October 16th, by having a group of her young friends attend a Halloween party at her home at 4 o'clock.

The rooms where the children played were gay with colorful Halloween decorations.

Diems and flowers. Childrens games were played and favors, the noise makers, were given each little guest. The honoree was dressed in a lovely pink taffeta dress with pink ribbon in her hair and as she accepted each birthday gift, her delightful acceptance was very sweet indeed. Mrs. Bowen, assisted by some of the other mothers present, served ice cream and birthday cake to the following children:

SUZETTE CATHEY CELEBRATES FOURTH BIRTHDAY WITH PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cathey complimented their attractive little daughter, Suzette, on Monday afternoon at a charmingly planned birthday party attended by a merry group of young friends. The large dining room, decorated with roses and autumn flowers, was the scene of the party, and much to the delight of the youngsters, the lighted pumpkin which centered the dining table, and additional Halloween decorations were similar to the Halloween noise makers they received as favors. Halloween games, such as "bobbing for apples," "planning the tall on the donkey" were enjoyed.

Individual birthday cake and ice cream were served to the following guests: Suzette Cathey, the honoree and Diana Dubard, Martha Grant, Dorothy Liles, Joe Thompson, Melton Sanders, Olivette Craig, Sissy and Sonny Scott, Stewart Liles, Cas E. Heath, Sambo Caruthers, Martha Fay Williams, Betty Burkley, George Kent, Mary Bess Parks, Sambo Waldrop, Chas. Ferrill, Clarice Townes, Maryhardy, Bays, Buddy Isenberg, Mary Leigh Garner, Beatrice and Arline Pierce, and Jimmie Guinn.

MISS AVENT

Ellen Louise Avent, of Grenada is one of six members of OWENS at the University of Mississippi who last week acted as honorary ushers at the concert given by the Don Cosacks.

OWENS is an honorary service organization for sophomore women at the university. The appearance of the Don Cosacks was the first number in this year's series of Lecture programs.

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB

The Twentieth Century Club enjoyed a very interesting program Tuesday afternoon, October 19th, when they met in the hospitable home of Mrs. E. A. Penn on 3rd Street. Mrs. C. C. Penn acted as cohostess.

An atmosphere of the coming of Halloween was displayed in the arrangement of wild golden daisies in the living room, and again in the napkins on the delicious refreshment plate.

Beside twenty-two Club members, Miss Florence Ray, a cousin and house guest of Mrs. J. B. Perry, was present. The topic for study this year is: "This Changing World," and has been so arranged to encourage a wider knowledge of international relationship.

Thus far Australia, Russia and Alaska have been presented. Tuesday's topic was "India." Mrs. H. J. Thiel using Manasa's text book, "Our India" spoke on Indian Economics and impressively presented India's present and future status.

Miss Estelle Turner, capably reviewed Nehru's autobiographical book entitled, "Toward Freedom."

In the business session Mrs. H. J. Ray was elected Secretary of the Club to fill out the unexpired term of Mrs. G. W. Patty.

Committees were appointed to aid in the raising of funds for the "War Relief Work" in Grenada county.

The club voted to take part in the selling of bonds for the Mississippi Federation of Women's Clubs, the proceeds to go for the purchase of a Bomber for Mississippi, of which further notice will appear in our local papers.—Reporter.

Frederick Balazs, violinist, of Camp McCain, gave a war bond concert in Pontotoc, Miss., during the recent drive which netted the local committee approximately 20 thousand dollars. Since this engagement Opl. Balazs appeared in concert in Memphis in a private home, and on Thursday of this week left for Brookhaven, Miss., where he will give a violin recital at the Brookhaven College auditorium. The week-end will find him in Memphis to have a conference with persons interested in his plan of presenting and directing Handel's Messiah for the benefit of Army Emergency Relief fund, about Christmas time.

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Mrs. Wm. Mitchell and Mrs. A. W. George returned Tuesday night from Memphis where they were guests of their brother, Dr. Moore Moore and Mrs. Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Williams have just returned from a ten days visit with their son, W. O. Williams and family at Pascagoula, Miss. where Mr. Williams is employed as a machinist at the Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp. While there they attended the launching of the U. S. S. Antheodon, a huge cargo ship and the 34th to be launched by the Ingalls shipyard.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Doak entertained their aunt, Mrs. Allie Gerard and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis eGrard, of Boston, Mass., at luncheon on Monday of this week.

News reached here Tuesday of this week of the arrival of a little daughter, named Lilla Elizabeth Hooker, at the Baptist Hospital in Memphis, on October 18, 1943. Her proud parents are Soldier and Mrs. Alban Hooker of Memphis. Mrs. Hooker is the former Rachel Tims, of Grenada.

Sgt. Nolan Houston and Lynn Rose, who was at home from the University of Mississippi, went to Gulfport last week end to visit Pvt. Thomas Rose.

Mrs. Robert Lomax, of California, (near San Francisco) arrived Sunday for a visit in Mississippi with her husband's relatives here, and at Dubard and in Greenwood. She was accompanied to Greenwood by her brother-in-law, Mr. Bill Lomax and Mrs. Lomax, and on Monday Mrs. Annie Fay Lomax and Mrs. Robert Lomax arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vassar Dubard at Dubard for a visit. They were guests of their father and grandfather, Mr.

William Dubard in Grenada on Wednesday.

I hope friends will aid me in leading a good life for the next ten days, as Mabel has gone to Hot Springs. I imagine I will have to get Miss Spill-de-Pears to write the society dope.

Do We Want A Ghost Town?

Grenada could easily be a ghost town after the soldiers leave here.
Grenada's great hope is that, with superabundant housing after the war, some large industry might locate here to take advantage of the large amount of housing, as well as of the many other fine qualifications possessed by Grenada.
Grenada's other hope is to inaugurate a campaign to bring the people in its legitimate trade territory to Grenada to do business, and treat them right when they come. Grenada businessmen could capture the business that, in normal times, goes from Grenada to Greenwood, Memphis, Jackson and to the mallorid houses, if they would offer some attraction other than the stale old slogan, "Trade at Home."
Every one, except Grenada, is planning for postwar conditions, and seeking to continue to grow and prosper even after the war. In general, Grenada, like a nestling, is sitting in the nest awaiting the soldiers and the workmen to drop the worms into its mouth.
Whether facts justify the impression or not, Grenada always has had the name of being a "high" town. Certainly now, when goods are scarce and customers plentiful, there is a great temptation to boost prices unreasonably; but all of us should remember that the war will be over some time, and we must get back to earth again. Good seeds of courtesy and of reasonable prices sown now will bear an abundant harvest in later years; but the tares of discourtesy and of unreasonable prices, too, will bear a harvest later—but what a different harvest!!

More Action And Less Resolutions

Every now and then, we read of high-sounding charters and resolutions made by members of the allied governments—the Atlantic Charter, the Quebec resolution and the Fulbright resolutions. These resolutions are idle and useless unless, when peace comes, the signatories to these documents are willing to implement them with action, with armies and with navies.
Well do I remember that we of my generation fought a war to "end all wars." Well do I remember the bitter fight which resulted in the defeat of President Wilson's program for world peace. Well do I recall the destruction of units of the various navies of the world, I also well remember that the big powers permitted Japan to wrest from China and immense territory on the Asiatic mainland. I remember that the big powers permitted Italy to take over Ethiopia after murdering thousands of brave, but ill-equipped natives. I recall that France begged England to help prevent the occupation of the Rhineland by Hitler's hoodlums. I recall the era of "appeasement" when England permitted Hitler to acquire immense territories South of Germany without spilling any blood whatever. All of this brigandage was performed in spite of the League of Nations which purportedly guaranteed the rights of the little nations.
In view of the disasters following the failure of the big nations to implement the fine phrases in the covenants made after the last world war, it is to be hoped that, following this war, some sort of international police force will be set up AND USED when a would-be thief seeks territory from a weak neighbor. Words without deeds are idle.

From A Volunteer Father

The towns are getting too large and we are beginning to recognize our neighbors only as strangers. The same thought applies to the GCW. It helps immensely to fill in a gap that threatens to widen daily between my conscious thought and the evident complacency of many of my friends who are still holding, or holding out on the home front.
The other hurt that is beginning to canker is the attitude that the healthy young father is manifesting toward the draft, and the unfortunate trend that we allowed to develop in our attitude toward service in the armed forces. In a recent editorial you stated a very pertinent fact when you said that a young father certainly has more to defend and fight for than a bachelor. His wife and children are his responsibilities, not the single man's or the Nation's, and he can rest assured that they won't starve or suffer unduly while he is in his country's service. They may be denied some luxuries while he is off the big pay roll, but actual hardship will never visit our people as it has those of the other nations engaged in this conflict. It is the avowed purpose of every man in the service to see that it doesn't happen here. When I enlisted, it was with a feeling of pride that I was fit and privileged to serve with the finest Navy on earth—that my bit would hasten the time when we could all resume our normal pursuits under conditions of our own choosing. But the Selective Service has been so administered and publicized as to leave the impression that it was a thing to be avoided and men have been led to any extremity to put off the fatal day—claiming dependants, wandering far from home to engage in so-called essential industry that was even foreign to their nature and for which they weren't adapted, even barrowing trouble when they could have enlisted or not asked for deferment and found that the hardships were not nearly so great as imagined or as they had imposed upon themselves and that their families were relatively secure. I believe that politicians have encouraged this attitude to a large extent by their mouthings over different items of proposed draft legislation from time to time.
I hope when we get back next time the whole show will be over. The GCW has become a stand-by with us. I'm the only one in my company from North Mississippi but they all read it through.
I am particularly fond of you and Mr. Henry Ray because you represent the good common sense background that I was raised up on, but you are fighting a losing battle. The people are too disinterested and too prone to let a few make up their minds for them and shoulder their responsibilities. That is what made Hitler and the New Deal possible. I think I don't need to add that these are the spawnings of a young fellow a long way from home intended more for my own relief than for your edification.

Let The War Last Forever

What a thought, "Let the war last forever," but I venture the assertion that millions of selfish persons would secretly make such a wish. These are the persons who are profiting by the war; getting wages about three times greater than their worth; working about as little as they can possibly help; and, in general, enjoying, if at the expenses of the blood of their neighbors' sons, the greatest prosperity they ever knew.
Being draft-proof and having no children in the army, yet making outrageous wages, they probably merely yawn at the hideous headlines that smear the front pages of the daily papers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ray spent the week end in Tippah County with Mrs. Ray's parents and to visit a brother who was home on furlough.

Attending the Jackson Fair last week were Mary E. Tucker, Junior and Douglas Gray, J. B. James, Jack James, Billy Shaw, Jimmie James, Charles Trussell, John L. Tucker and Thos. Gillon.

Teachers Virginia Smith, of Pleasant Grove, Lorraine Hardin, of Derna, and Mrs. Alma Hankins, Carrollton, spent the week end with home folks.

Mrs. C. S. McVay, of Soona Valley, was a guest of her brother, Supt. W. T. York on Sunday.

The public is invited to the Halloween party given by the Gore Springs School in the auditorium on Thursday night, October 28th. Be on time and take part in the cake walk given by the boys ball team and buy a change on the Girl Reserve Thanksgiving fund. Hear the musical program. Fun and frolic mixed with surprises on every hand is in store for you.

JERRY SWETLAND HAS BIRTHDAY

On October 18th, young Jerry Swetland celebrated his seventh birthday at the home of his parents, at 4 o'clock. A charming Halloween motif was carried out, not only in the reception rooms but on the porch.
Games were enjoyed for an hour and then ice cream, cake and suckers were served to the following friends: Freddie Lickfold, Sonny Hubbard, Dorothy Liles, Sambo Caruthers, Jacqueline Sanderson, Betty Lilly, Frankie Sanderson, Murel Cooper, Bobby Leggett, Billy Orr, Annette Day, Olivette Craig, Gene, Spivey and Melton Douglass.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON AT POST CLUB

Mrs. S. S. Barksdale was a charming hostess to a group of friends Monday noon at the Post Officers' Club when she entertained at a 3 course Bridge Luncheon. Garden flowers in their brilliant autumn colors decorated the tables and dainty place cards featuring Halloween symbols served as most attractive tally cards for the bridge games.

The guest list included the following: Mesdames McKee, Mark Amen, Snooks, Bartlett Dubois, Donald Sharp, P. H. Youngblood, John Wade, John J. Brown, Goodrich, Demott, O'Hara, and Jenkins.

Prizes awarded were, first prize, a lovely costume pin to Mrs. Donald Sharp; second prize embroidered guest towels to Mrs. Amen, and third prize, dusting powder, to Mrs. Dubois.

WESLYAN GUILD MEETS

On Monday evening the Wesleyan Guild of the Methodist Church entertained thirty five members of their church who are of the business women's group in Grenada and of WAC's from Camp McCain. At 6:30 a delicious baked chicken dinner was served. Mr. R. F. Matthews is leader of this group. Miss Lucile Pierce, program chairman was assisted in presenting the evening's program by Vernet Wilson, Fay Jordan, Miss Carr and Mrs. Wiley.

Mrs. Earle White left Wednesday for Tampa, Fla., for a short visit with her husband, Sgt. White of the Air Corps.

Ladies are urged to save surplus fats and to continue bringing tin cans and seed for a seed meeting. This is a continuous program with an individual responsibility. After a brief business session and recreation, the teachers were honored with a food shower. Lons

One Job Well Done Begets Another

THERE'S no satisfaction in all the world like the feeling of having done a job well—of being able to see the results of your work. This is one thing that all producers of useful things have in common.
And those of us whose job is production—whether of goods on farms and in factories, or of services in stores and banks and utilities—can best see the results of our work in the high standard of living which we have helped to create in America. For this standard is built on our ability to produce more per person than any other nation on earth. And the people of every country, who are looking hopefully to us for food and weapons, can count on America because it has this great productive might.
After the war is over? Many people are talking about a richer life for all of us then. And they're right! For that richer life will be brought about, not by promises, but by hard work on the part of America's producers. And they—those who grow and make and do things—can do this post-war job better if they work together and understand each other. General Electric Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

OLD MEAT STRETCHING SPUDS

I imagine the Irish potato is the most widely known, the most commonly used and probably the least thought of until they get scarce—And then every one wants some potatoes.
There are so many ways to prepare them and so many different foods that are better if potatoes are served with them, that I've decided that when I go to the farm I'll pot raise anything but potatoes and chickens that come home to roost—

POTATOBURGERS

Try Crisco's DELICIOUS MEAT-STRETCHER RECIPE
Potatoburgers
1 1/2 pound ground raw beef
1/2 cup ground raw potatoes (1 medium sized)
2 teaspoons ground onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
Scrub potatoes, don't pare. Cut up peeling and all.
Combine ingredients and shape into patties. Coat with flour. Melt enough Crisco in skillet to cover bottom generously. Fry until browned on both sides. Cover skillet and cook very slowly for five minutes. If gravy is desired, stir 2 tablespoons flour into drippings left in skillet. Brown smoothly. Add 1-1/2 cups milk. Cook until gravy thickens. Sentinels of Health
Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed by the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

HONORING OUR PARENTS

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:12; Luke 2:48-51; Mark 7:9-13; John 19:25-27.
GOLDEN TEXT—Children, obey your parents in the Lord; for this is right.—Ephesians 6:1.

Right relations between children and parents have much to do with the peace and prosperity of a community and a nation. Experience has demonstrated that to be true, but even more basic is the fact that it is in accord with the promise of God.

One of the bad breakdowns in modern life is that of proper honor and obedience to parents by children. In all too many homes God's order has been reversed and instead of honoring and obeying their parents, children (both young and old) have taken the place of "boss," and mother and father must obey if they want peace and rest.

The need for our lesson of today is both great and acute. The future happiness of hundreds of thousands of children and the present welfare of thousands of neglected and boss-ridden parents will depend on the intelligence and faithfulness with which this lesson is taught in our churches, and the honesty of heart with which we all receive its truth.

I. The Command and Promise (Exod. 20:12).

We are told by Paul that this is the "first commandment with promise" (Eph. 6:1-3). The Lord was not making a bargain with man, or seeking to draw out obedience by a prize, but there is obviously a great reward in the observing of this commandment.

Then, too, as the children of God (if we are such) through Jesus Christ, the first and most important consideration to come before us is, What is the mind, and will of the Maker of us all regarding this matter of the relation between parents and children? His words are plain—we are to "honor" our fathers and our mothers.

The word "honor" carries with it a great many things, but perhaps the three outstanding elements are respect, obedience, and affection.

Our Lord Jesus Christ, who is the Saviour and then the Example of believers, presents a beautiful pattern of true obedience to this commandment.

II. Willing Obedience (Luke 2:48-51; John 19:25-27).

The fact that Jesus was God manifest in the flesh only enhanced His conduct. He who is divine presents an example of obedience and consideration both as boy and man which we do well to emulate.

1. As a Boy (Luke 2:48-51). The boy Jesus, increasing "in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man" (v. 52), had come to His twelfth year and with His parents had gone up to Jerusalem to celebrate the Passover.

There moved in His heart the conviction that He must now be about His Father's business—an altogether proper and commendable purpose, but one which resulted for the moment in separation from His parents. This was far more serious than a physical separation, for we read that they did not understand Him (v. 50).

Tragic indeed are the consequences of our failure to understand our children. Notice, however, that Jesus did not withdraw Himself from their watchful care, nor refuse to obey them even though they failed to understand Him. Equally tragic are the results of hasty and bitter separations brought about by the disobedience of children.

2. As a Man (John 19:25-27). The value of our lesson will be greatly reduced if we see only the responsibility of children while they are young. We are the children of our parents as long as we and they live.

One marvels at the carelessness and hardness of heart that will permit men and women who have time and money for everything else, to neglect their aged parents and even shunt them off into a public institution for care.

III. Hypocritical Disobedience (Mark 7:6-13).

Such an important commandment naturally held a high place in the thinking of the community. To violate it involved a measure of shame which men sought to avoid. So the Jews of Christ's day devised a scheme which made it possible for a man to appear to be very religious even as he deprived his parents of the honor and help to which they were entitled by the law of God.

The man who was so avaricious that he did not wish to support his aged and needy parents could entirely evade that God-given responsibility by declaring that his property was "Corban," that is, dedicated by a vow to God. Thereafter no matter how great was the need of his parents they could receive nothing.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

South America supplied 45 per cent of the world's rubber needs in 1930, while in 1922 only about 6 per cent came from that section. For East plantation development accounts for the drop in the demand for Amazon Valley rubber.

Synthetic rubber is defined as a man-made combination of molecules that form a substance having the chief characteristics of crude rubber.

In 1935 the total of American-controlled rubber plantations was about 260,000 acres, mostly in the Far East. These plantations produced 40,000 tons annually, or about 5 per cent of U. S. imports.

This Chair Has No Springs, Yet It's Comfortable and So Easy to Make

THE war is bringing many changes in the things we use and the things we do. Women as well as men are learning to handle tools. If a chair is late we make one.

Perhaps you have made lawn chairs all with straight cuts of the hand saw. Have you ever stopped to realize that it is almost as easy to cut curves with a compass saw? Curves add comfort as well as beauty and a tufted cushion distributes the weight so that springs are not missed so much. The curved pieces of the charming chair sketched here are shown at the left.

NOTE—Mrs. Spears has prepared an actual-size pattern for all the curved sections of this chair. Complete dimensions and directions for the chair construction and for making the tufted cushion, with list of materials included. This is pattern 285 and costs 15 cents. Send your order to:

Dried fruit, if cooked in the oven, need not be soaked first. Cover fruit with water. Bake in a covered dish. Slow oven cooking seems to bring out the sweetness of the fruit. If sweetening is needed, add a little sugar or honey.

If coconut is a little hard for desserts, soften it by soaking several minutes in milk or fruit juice.

Clean powder puffs are handy for cleaning silverware; use one to apply the polish and another to do the buffing.

Oiled cloth covering for cupboard and pantry shelves is a real work-saver. To keep crumbs and dust from collecting under the edges, seal them with cellulose tape.

When dampening and rolling up the wash before ironing, put at the bottom of the basket the pieces you like to iron best and which are the easiest. That way, the last of the ironing will go fast and seem easy.

A little horseradish and lemon juice mixed with mayonnaise makes a good sauce to serve with tongue.

Adopt 'United Nations' Tag In White House Bathroom

There's an interesting picture of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt working together in "How War Came to America," just published in England.

When Mr. Churchill was staying at the White House in December, 1941, he and the President were looking for the right phrase to describe the Allied nations. In bed on the morning of the 31st President Roosevelt had an inspiration. He got up at once to seek Mr. Churchill—and found him in his bath. Quoting from the book:

"How about the 'United Nations'?" he called out, as Churchill brought his soapy head above water. The prime minister ducked again to rinse the last of the soap from his eyes, shook his head, and turned a dripping gaze on the President. "That," he said, "should do it."

If you know a Navy man, don't ever call him a "gob"—sailors consider the name an insult. You can get on the right side of him though if you offer him a Camel—or better yet, send him a carton. Camels are the favorite cigarette with men in the Navy (Army, Marines, Coast Guard, too, for that matter) based on actual sales records from the service men's stores. And though there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to men in the Navy, Marines and Coast Guard wherever they are.—Adv.

THE WAR-TIME RECIPE

"Quality," dependable quality in all baking ingredients, is the universal demand of war-time housewives. But, remember, high quality does not always mean high cost. You actually pay less for the quality that has made Clabber Girl the baking day favorite of millions.

Ask Mother, She Knows: Clabber Girl goes with the best of everything, for baking.

NOTICE OF LOCAL P. T. A.
MEETING OCT. 14TH
The local P. T. A. met October 14th at the High School auditorium with Mrs. O. R. Lilly, president, presiding. Mrs. Lilly announced that the local

P. T. A. had received a certificate for attaining the Standard of Excellence last year. For this, Mrs. C. C. Richardson, past president, was given a vote of applause. The president also announced that the Lunch Room, which served free lunches, had received a certificate of merit. Mrs. L. E. Noble, chairman, received a vote of applause in behalf of this attainment.

Miss Catherine Wilson gave a report on the Summer Recreation program, sponsored by the P. T. A.

Mrs. R. B. Thomason spoke on "Federal Aid for School Lunches".

Efforts are being made by the P. T. A. to secure Judge Camille Kelly of Memphis, for a speaking engagement.

Local Pub. Chairman.

Mrs. Blanch Spillers, of DuQuoin, Ill. was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ed Swetland last week.

Corporals Robert Aldred and Bill Murray, both of Hq. Bty. 114th F. A. Bn., at Camp Pickett, Va., have been home recently.

Pete LaGrone, of the power trust at Greenville, is not only the father of "Ferdinand" but he came over here this week and taught his innocent friends "Race Horse". There ought to be a law against Pete LaGrone.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

During the period of October 28 to November 18, troops at Camp McCain will be conducting exercises on and in the vicinity of the reservation. Cooperation of civilian drivers in making way for Army vehicles on roads near the reservation and in the vicinity of McCain will be greatly appreciated.

Army vehicles will be operating under blackout conditions. It is therefore asked that civilian vehicles dim their lights when encountering such blackout traffic.

COLORED USO IN GRENADA
The first of our fall season out-of-door programs sponsored by our Senior and Junior Service Organizations of USO, was the welter roast, given on Pine Hill Friday evening, October 15, 1943.

About five or six hundred soldiers from Camp McCain and our Volunteer Service Organization enjoyed a full evening roasting welers and Magnolia marshmallows. At the many bon-fires scattered along the hill side of Pine Hill this gave an ideal setting, the singing of songs while roasting welers and marshmallows added gaiety to such an affair.

The Volunteer Service Organization of USO will continue to sponsor elegant affairs for our men in service, to "Make Them Feel at Home While Away From Home."

Do your part, give to the National War Fund Drive. By so doing you are aiding USO, who is doing a splendid job for our men in service, and keeping their morale high.

C. J. Kincaide, Director.
